

meeting on Thursday night at Liberty Hall, when he wanted to see the anti-reforms and everybody.

Mr. Thomas wanted to know in what ward he could vote. He had paid taxes in two wards, and when he asked Mr. Hewes, he could get no satisfaction, but was told that if he did not like the way business was done down here, he had better go where he would like it.

Mr. Palmer desired to know of the chairman, whether at the election he would vote for "A Yankee."

The chair said his modesty forbade a reply; but he would refer the inquirer to an article of his, published on Monday afternoon.

The meeting then adjourned with an understanding that there will be a "mass meeting" at Liberty Hall on Thursday night.
